G. W. BERRY, House, Sign and Ornamental PAINTER, RUGBY, TENN.

FOR SALE,
A Town lot at the corner of Cumberland Avenue and Harrow Road, Rugby. Any person wanting a building lot in this very desirable locality can buy the above for $10. It cost $75. Apply at the Office of the Rugbeian.

PROSPECTUS OF THE RUGBY CANNING CO., LIMITED.

(Under the recent Act of Legislature.)
CAPITAL $3,500,
Divided into 350 Shares of $10 each.

DIRECTORS:
N. H. TUCKER, FRANCIS TAYLOR, JAMES MILMOW, C. H. WILSON AND C. H. BLACKLOCK.

The fruit and vegetable growing capabilities of Rugby, and the Plateau generally, are well known and satisfactorily established. The object of this Company is to set up machinery, etc., in Rugby, for the canning of these products, and to ship them in the most compact and profitable form.

The abundant production of tomatoes, and the excellence of their quality, has determined the promoters, after careful consideration, to begin the enterprise upon them principally. These considerations lead them to the conviction that they can turn out, at current prices an article superior to any now on the market. They hope to add corn, beans, strawberries, apples, peaches, etc., as they progress.

The Company has secured a complete can making and processing plant, which will be on the ground in a few days.

The amount of capital already subscribed is $2,500. $5 per share is called on all shares now issued, the balance payable 1st April, 1883.

It is hoped the enterprise will receive sufficient support to increase the capital to $5,000; towards this end all well-wishers are asked to assist.

Application for shares to be made to
C. H. BLACKLOCK, Sec. pro tem.
RUGBY, TENN.

THE RIGHT MEN IN THE RIGHT PLACES.

A round man in a square hole will never fit or work easily in his place, and a square man in a round hole will be in the same awkward position. Before any work of real use is possible the place must fit the man, and the man must fit the place.

In the starting out of Rugby quite a small host of round men came from Old England, and tried to fit themselves into square holes, and some square men came from New England, and attempted to fill out round holes. What was the result? Why, after a while the round and square men found out their several mistakes, and with many hard words at their cruel fate, drifted off to fresh scenes, to try again impossible problems, until, learning from experience, they arrive at their proper earthly dispositions.

The Rugby colony has about got down to hard pan in the matter of settlers, and looking around us we see only those who mean business, mean to stay, and mean to succeed. The right men are in the right places. The right men must continue to come, though, or we shall not have that success we have inaugurated, increased. To bring the right men here we must go about the business in a right way. We must bring the pioneer class, those men who can go upon the ground and clear it up for the men who will follow and control it rather by brains than muscle alone. There was just a little too much culture in our early days, and not enough agriculture. This mistake has been found out, and too much capital has been found out to be a mistake, also. It causes a man to depend too much upon other people's arms, and gives him also the power of moving on just when, if he had waited and worked on a little harder, he was on the point of success.

The Walden Ridge Coal and Iron Company, of Ohio, have filed a charter with the Secretary of State to operate certain mining lands in Tennessee.

The word "teetotaller" is not fully appreciated by some of the British abstainers, and a new word is asked for. A correspondent of the London Times says:

"Why not dedicate to the purpose a word made ready to hand, hydro-potes, which in the shape of its derivative verb, occurs in I. Timothy, v. 23? The form to be adopted would require careful consideration, for that which first suggests itself, 'hydropot,' would be apt to degenerate into 'waterpot.' I commend the subject to the consideration of word-builders."

The teetotallers of Copenhagen evidently believe there is still "something rotten in the state of Denmark." They propose to lessen the number of city drinking places from 1,350 to 300, and forbid "mine host" to supply liquor to a drunken person, or to anyone under the age of eighteen years. Attractive barmaids are to be a forbidden advertisement, and no one will be allowed even to say with "rare Ben Jonson,"

Drink to me only with thine eyes,
And I will pledge with mine;
Or leave a kiss but in the cup,
And I'll not look for wine.

The last provision of the proposed new law is so radical that we should like to see it adopted by temperance legislators generally. It requires the landlord who supplied the finishing glass to a person becoming drunk on his premises, to procure a cab or carriage and carefully convey the drunkard to his home.

TENNESSEE NEWS.

Ex-Treasurer Polk's bond has been reduced to $50,000.

Suits are begun almost daily in Chattanooga against defunct marriage associations.

The mortality in Tennessee is said to be greater during February than in any other month.

A new soap factory, with a capacity of 125,000 pounds per day, has been started in Nashville.

The men who robbed the Birmingham, Ala., post-office have been captured at Nashville.

A national bank with a paid up capital of $50,000 is soon to be organized in Union City.

About four hundred persons are more or less engaged in mining coal on the line of the Cincinnati Southern railway.

The contracts for grading the railroad from Lawrenceburg to the Maury county line have been awarded and work will begin at once.

There are in the State of Tennessee more than 800 insane people outside of the lunatic asylum, and without proper care or medical treatment.

Anderson Higgins has submitted, at Nashville, to the charge of murdering an old colored man named Smith, and sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

On Saturday evening, at Knoxville, two negroes, named Rice and Newton, engaged in a desperate stabbing fight, frightfully cutting each other. Rice will probably die.

Last Monday, while Judge Robt. Cantrell was riding across the creek on the ice, at Lebanon, his horse slipped and fell on his left leg, breaking both bones just above the ankle.

The two year old daughter of Philip Robb shot herself with a toy pistol, in Edgefield, last week, while an older sister was trying to take it away from her; the ball went to her brain, causing instantaneous death.

The late State Commissioner of Agriculture, Mines, etc., says in Knox county above $250,000 of capital is employed in quarrying and preparing marble for shipment. There are fourteen quarries in operation.

Tennessee has entered suit in the chancery court for the recovery of $57,000 from the Merchant's National Bank of Nashville. All other banks giving M. T. Polk false credit will be proceeded against in the same manner.

There are at present four companies in Tennessee engaged in making iron, using coke as fuel. The number of furnaces in the State engaged in the manufacture of iron is much smaller than in former years, but the aggregate production is much larger.

At Nashville, early on Sunday morning, a fire commenced in a stable on Front street, and rapidly spread until a large number of buildings was destroyed. Loss about $175,000. Over forty horses were burned in Allen's stables. Broad street, Market street and Front street suffered most.

As a train on the C.S.R.R., on Wednesday, was passing through the King's Mountain tunnel, an underground stream burst, and broke every pane of glass upon one side of the ladies car. The passengers were drenched to the skin, and one gentleman who thought the train had gone through a bridge, dislocated his knee in jumping from his seat.

INCORPORATION OF RUGBY.

The question of the incorporation of Rugby is engaging the attention of residents, and the general opinion is a charter would be of use, and serve to benefit the town in many ways. A charter undoubtedly gives an individuality to a place, and a sense of self-respect and responsibility, along with an outside prominence, that an unchartered town does not, and cannot have.

There are, of course, reverse considerations, and matters that only corporate experience can teach, to bear in mind, but Rugby cannot get that hold of her own affairs, and management of her local interests, she should have, until she possesses those full powers of self-government only given by a charter.

The following persons are under trial in Dublin for the murder of Lord Cavendish and Burkein Phoenix Park: T. C. Carey, a member of the corporation; J. Brady, stonecutter; E. O'Brien, shoemaker; Edward McCaffery, van driver; Peter Carey, mason; Lawrence Hamblom, a carpenter; Peter Doyle, coach builder, and Timothy Kelley, coach builder. All the prisoners were fully identified.

The French political ocean is but little, if any, calmer than it was a few weeks ago; society is seething with anticipations, hopes and fears, and the twelve year old Republic, tossed to and fro by the wind of every political doctrine, will need all the brain and energy of her captain and officers if she is to weather the disturbance—storm it can scarcely be called, as it does not appear that the nation at large is dissatisfied with its form and conduct of government. The world would be set back fifty years by the fall of the Republic, and the restoration of a Bonaparte, or a "Legitimist."
